COPPERING.

The travel out of town on the A. & S. E. this morning was rather heavier than usual. The following were noticed among the throng:

Mrs. C. L. Douglass, mother of Mrs. F. M. McKay, who has been here on a visit.

Also several members of the Mexican 400 including their celebrated bandmaster.

Mrs. J. A. Miller, wife of our scientific baker, and children who are well known in Tombstone.

Miss Annie Kane, who is taking a trip to Tombstone for variety's sake; life in Bisbee being too monotonous just now.

J. N. Ziegenfuss who has done quite a good business here in the piano line lately. He has disposed of quite a few of the instruments in various parts of town and the "Upper Ten" will probably be right in it, as far as music is concerned, for awhile.

Sheriff Fly and three deputies from Tucson came in today.

Mr. Cunningham, government inspector of live stock, also arrived.

A number of strangers came in on the train this evening. There are quite a number in town who have been waiting for jobs for weeks and the number seems rapidly growing larger notwithstanding the increase in the forces in the various departments some time back.

V. E. Stiles came into town yesterday from the camping place in Ramsey canyon. The occasion of the visit was the necessity of a supply of snake medicine for the ladies, the jug they had having been found empty under very mysterious circumstances. Volney also took back a few provisions to make it look like a business trip; and also, we are told, a beer keg of vinegar. He reports game plenty, the weather fine and the party all enjoying themselves famously.

J. W. Farrington and Geo. B. Reay finally got started for Mesquite this morning. Mr. Reay goes to look over the country with an eye open for a gold mine while the doctor's trip is one of pure philanthropy. They have already had their first lesson of the patience necessary when traveling with a Mexican outfit. They were kept waiting three days before they finally made a start and in the meantime were entertained with stories of Mexican travel without number. They have come to the conclusion that they will be lucky if they get back from a so-called three weeks trip in anything less than six months.

By accident we have just heard of the very bitter disappointment of two of the irrepressible store boys, viz. Messrs. Riley and Brandes. They left town early yesterday morning to take a trip down to the river ostensibly for the purpose of seeing how Mr. Riley's horse was getting along in the pasture. This however was merely a blind for the uninitiated, the real object of their trip being to visit a couple of young ladies who were stopping in that immediate vicinity. We do not think we could do justice to Mr. Riley's imagination of the pleasures of lying in the green grass under the summer skies and looking fondly into a pair of dark brown eyes, and will not attempt to describe it. It will suffice to say that "fortune does not always favor the brave" and so it proved in this instance. The young ladies made an unexpected trip to another point and our gallant Loebinsars had nothing but their trouble for their pains. They rode into town late yesterday afternoon rather the worse for wear, and with a determination to keep a stiff upper lip or die. The result was told to one or two friends and finally reached Yours Truly who was busy hunting for just such things and was much gratified thereby. On account of unfamiliarity with the pasture they were unable to find the much sought for horse.
